- 1) Michael Douglas was born in New Brunswick, New Jersey, United States on the 25th September 1944
To grow up and become an actor never seen before
Last year he had his 80th birthday yes
Celebrated with all his family, and friends, or so I guess
- 2) Getting up to all his great acting tricks
Michael first appeared in 'The Streets of San Francisco' Police drama from 1972 to 1976
He then in many a different film took place
In ones like 'Romancing the Stone', 'Fatal Attraction' and 'The War of the Roses' showed his face
- 3) Michael found marrying Diandra Luker from 1977 to 2000 quite pleasant
Then turned to Catherine Zeta-Jones from the year 2000 to present
Between them bringing up 3 different children too
That were to gather with quite a few
- 4) Like his father, Kirk Douglas, Michael became a true actor and TV star
Appearing in plenty a film cast both near and far
Picking up lots of Awards including the 'AFI Life Achievement' Award
For which he is to be deeply applaud
- 5) Michael was a terrific American actor and film producer in his career
To be congratulated with a very big population cheer
He in his life has done all that he's meant ta
Including sometimes being a generous charitable activities presenter
