

Railway Is 200

- 1) To be given lots and lots of cheers
The British Railway has now been going for 200 years
Taking people very near and far
Travelling much quicker than by car
- 2) On the 27th September 1825 was the first steam-powered Locomotion
With George Stephenson, for it, to soon face promotion
No 1 travelled 26 miles from Shildon, Darlington to Stockton yes
Giving lots of passenger amazement or so I guess
- 3) Then to bring a smile to many a face
Developments of more and more train stations took place
And often together having a laugh
Were all the different well-trained staff
- 4) The steam-power gradually changed to electricity
Now to be seen on electric trains by you and me
And with not much had of disaster
They're getting much faster and faster
- 5) So today with no at all hesitation
We give the 200th Railway Anniversary a big celebration
With it making all the front pages
This form of transport successfully going for ages

© Paul Wilkins 27/09/2025